This is not a ticket, but if it were in my power, you would receive one. You are a Bull Headed, inconsiderate, feeble minded driver who can't park correctly to save your own life. You have managed in either your own selfishness or ineptness to take up enough room for a 20 mule team, 2 elephants, 1 goat and a safari of pygmies from the African Interior. The reason for giving you this is so that in the future you may think of someone else other than yourself. Besides I don't like domineering, egotistical, self-centered, drivers like yourself.

I sign off wishing you an early transmission failure in the middle of rush-hour traffic, during unusually bad weather, or both. No matter what happens to you when driving, you deserve it.
